During Ancient Egyptian times, poorer people, like farmers, ate bread. Thanks to the annual flood, the area around the Nile was very fertile. This meant lots of different foods could be grown and harvested.

Task: See the recipe below to make your own flatbread. Make sure you ask for permission before cooking.

Once you are finished, write an evaluation for your product. Think about these questions for your evaluation. Can you describe it? What do you like about it? What could you improve next time? What problems did you have to solve?

History

At first I could see nothing, the hot air escaping from the chamber causing the candle flame to flicker, but presently, as my eyes grew accustomed to the light, details of the room within emerged slowly from the mist, strange animals, statues, and gold – everywhere the glint of gold. For the moment – an eternity it must have seemed to the others standing by – I was struck dumb with amazement, and when Lord Carnarvon, unable to stand the suspense any longer, inquired anxiously,

‘Can you see anything?’

It was all I could do to get out the words,

‘Yes, wonderful things.’

Glossary
Chamber - room	Presently - at that moment
Accustomed - get used to	Emerged - could be seen little by little
Suspense - waiting nervously	Inquired - asked
Anxiously - nervously

Make your own Egyptian flatbread

Ingredients:

Warm water (about 200 ml)
A teaspoon of active yeast
250g of plain flour
A teaspoon of salt
A tablespoon of olive oil

Method:

1. In a big bowl mix the water and yeast together.
Let it rest for five minutes.
2. Add the flour, salt and olive oil. Mix everything together until you have a smooth dough. Add more flour if it feels too sticky.
3. Cover the bowl and put it in a warm area for two hours.
It should double in size!
4. Preheat your oven to 220°C and cut the dough in half.
5. Use a rolling pin to flatten your bread. You should have two flat disks roughly 1 cm thick.
6. Transfer the bread to two baking trays and bake in the oven for 20 minutes.
7. Enjoy! Make sure the bread has cooled down a little before you eat it!

Make sure you have permission from an adult before you start cooking!
